

HUSBAY Talks

What Is Humanism?

Good Without a God, an Alternative to Religion

Love

Lessons from Living, with a Spritz of Psychology

Death

Facing the End, without Needless Fear

Talks and poetry readings by Dan Dana, PhD, author of Love, Death, Humanism: Practical Philosophy in Verse—the sourcebook for each of these three presentations—and member of Humanists of Sarasota Bay (HUSBAY).

HUSBAY offers these 30-60-minute talks in person to any interested audience of twenty or more persons in the Sarasota area and via Zoom without geographical restriction.

Overview:

1. Introduction and educational purpose of this talk
2. Explanation of “haiku quintets,” the poetic form of Dan’s compositions
3. Readings of a selection of 10-15 haiku quintets on the chosen topic drawn from the sourcebook:
 - a. If by Zoom, each poem will be accompanied by an on-screen display with an illustrative image.
 - b. If in-person, host provides display equipment. Speaker provides presentation file.
4. Optional content: The Death topic may include poems about end-of-life choice and/or ethical antinatalism, if desired
5. Q&A and open discussion

This is a free educational service of Humanists of Sarasota Bay - husbay.org/ – a chapter of American Humanist Association - americanhumanist.org/

Hosts are encouraged to arrange purchase (or free download) of an individual copy of the sourcebook for each participant. Sarasota-area residents are excused from this request.

Dan Dana bio: husbay.org/dan-dana/
Personal website: dandana.us

Contact:

Sarasota-area: David Helgager, HUSBAY President: dbhelgager@comcast.net
Elsewhere (worldwide): Dan Dana: dan@dandana.us

