

A Spring Haiku

the task before me:
to conjure a spring haiku
but first, noun or verb?

daffodils, yardwork
beckon thawed snowbirds northward it's been fun, see ya

we're now rebounding Covid's winter of despair
hope springs eternal

metaphors spring up:
like when starting something new,
like this newsletter

thanks for your patience I'll spring into action, now and start writing this
