

Hurricane Ian

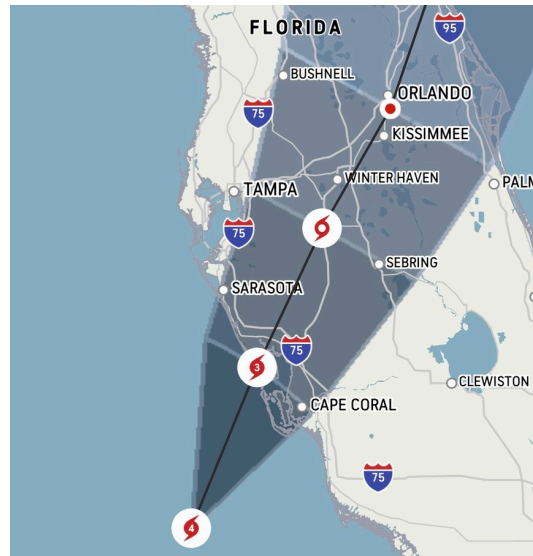

we'd been gone a month
Ian chose to come visit
such awkward timing!

on collision course
we'd hoped to land before him
nay, quoth weather gods

stranded near Dulles
while he wreaked windy havoc
we watched helplessly

he didn't stay long
but left a trash heap behind a most thoughtless guest!

so that's my story
a final haiku quintet
to end this memoir

Screenshot 28 September 2022. Hurricane Ian struck near Sarasota the same day we were scheduled to return from France. Our condo was undamaged.

30 September 2022

dandana.us/poems