

An Old Flame

she reached across miles decades and careers long past an email surprise

life-plans adjusted rescripted in middle age by personals ad

we explored ourselves with witty conversation warming our brief space

our journeys diverged seemed lost to forgotten times then ... my inbox rang

how are you, old friend?
I want to learn about you and about myself

