

Flamethrowers

The new fire brigade is at the gate, flamethrowers held high. Our home is but kindling. I sit shackled by age in the white closet, safely awaiting the blaze. I may expire, painlessly, before it reaches me. Others, the young and brown, will suffer most. Meanwhile I'll watch it on TV.

Photo: CNN

16 December 2024

dandana.us