

Sarasota Snow Day

To forestall the decrepitude of age, I take morning walks, first thing, before the day's duties overwhelm good intentions. This morning, however, cowering in my warm bed, that self-imposed rule begged amendment: If under 60 or raining, I declare a snow day. With cleared conscience, I arose to write this story.

7 January 2025

dandana.us