

Danny's Decision

Daniel Kahneman, thinking fast and slow, made a supremely rational decision: trade his final decrepit years for timeless, painless oblivion. He chose the Swiss option, waving off irrational gods and laws — a model for averting millennia of needless human suffering. Choice. The world is not there yet. I am, in time.

Photo: Benedict Evans for WSJ

18 March 2025

dandana.us