

Courage

I bravely tilt toward the corrupt windmill, imagining my poetic pinpricks may strike the fatal blow, bringing down this brutal regime, where senators and law firms and universities have wilted under threat of the odious king's tweets. Shielded by obscurity, my witty word-weapons rain down upon him in righteous assault. Courage!

Image by AI (ImageFX)

24 March 2025

dandana.us