

Defending My Realm

Big Things elude me: I am hopelessly powerless, what will be will be. Small Things inhabit that realm where I am king. I must defend my border against invasion by bully hubris. My words are law only until I forget they do not rule in your domain, just my own.

18 April 2026

dandana.us/micros