

Oversharing/Undersharing

he blurts blatant truths, assuming others agree,
or would like to know

she contains her truth, assuming others care less what's beneath her veil

he hears no protest, so infers their concurrence, strengthening friendship

she hears no questions, inferring her smile tells all that's wanted to know

love accepts raw truth, partners know the real story behind our shadows

13 October 2024

dandana.us/poems